Dear Ian

Over the years I have installed Fuelstars to a variety of cars. The results are always the same.....better running, more power, lower fuel consumption and less black smoke in the case of diesels.

I installed a Fuelstar to my 2002 series 2 VX Commodore in June 2007. Amazingly, it didn't work for quite some time, many weeks in fact. However, it eventually kicked in and my fuel consumption, which I am able to confirm from the dashboard display has dropped from 10.2 to 8.5 litres per 100 km, a reduction of 16%. Needless to say I am very happy with this result. The vehicle does a relatively high mileage and my investment of $369 is producing a return of $800 per annum in fuel savings. It's far better than money in the bank.

My wife Sharon drives a Toyota MR2. Prior to Fuelstar she would be able to travel 320 to 350 km per tank of fuel. Since the Fuelstar was installed three years ago, she is now regularly getting 500km per tank. Again, the investment has paid for itself many times over.

Your sincerely
